Delay Ballot for Study of Change To At-Large Vote

Voters may well be electing a council of five at large, instead of the present council of seven by districts at next April's elections. This appeared possible and prob-

Red China Skirmish Start Today

Issue Disguised As Demands for Two Other Seats

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The Security Council was summoned to session today for a major skirmish on the diplomatic battle over Red China's demands for a seat in the United Nations.

The issue, disguised by the applications of two other nations for U.N. membership, came up while delegates still were discussing President Kennedy's speech Monday to the General Assembly.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was listed to speak in the assembly's general debate this afternoon, providing an opportunity for a quick formal Russian answer to Kennedy.

Russian Deal Rumored
The Red China issue was behind the applications of Outer Mongolia and Mauritania for General Assembly membership. A third application, from Sierra Leone, appeared certain to be recommended favorably to the assembly.

Reports circulated in U.N. corridors that Russia had offered a deal to the African members of the French community, now known as the "Brazzaville group."

The reports said Russia had offered to withhold its veto from Mauritania's application in exchange for the French African vote to seat Communist China when the issue of Chinese representation comes up in the assembly. Russia vetoed Mauritania last year when Outer Mongolia's application failed to receive the necessary seven Security Council votes.

Holds Vote Balance
The consensus is that the Brazzaville group holds the balance in an eventual vote that will determine whether the Peiping regime will be excluded for another year.

Nationalist China, while hoping there would be enough abstentions in the 11-member Security Council to prevent Outer Mongolia from getting seven votes again this year, was ready to veto the application if necessary.

The warm glow of enthusiasm that greeted Kennedy's 40 minute speech slowly settled into an attitude of more critical appraisal.

Desert College Board Lets Bid for $907,000

PALM DESERT — The board of trustees of the College of the Desert, last night let a bid of $907,000 to Farrar and Griffen of San Bernardino to construct the science and liberal arts buildings at the new college.

The action followed a request by L. P. Shearer of Redlands, who asked that his low bid of $812,000 be thrown out because of a clerical error of nearly $100,000.

This was the second time that this matter had been discussed by the board, having thrown out all bids the first time last August.

able as a result of council action last night which put off a scheduled re-districting election tentatively set for Nov. 21.

The scrapping of the November election was the highlight of a marathon five-hour session. It came after approval of the Nov. 21 election date had already been moved by Councilman Ted McKinney and seconded by Councilwoman Mary Carlin.

At that point Councilman George Beebe asked whether enough consideration had been given to the holding of elections at large and whether enough time remained to have the proposition placed before the voters prior to the April councilmanic elections.

"We can go through this re-districting now and, with our population growth and change, have to do it all over again every three years," Beebe pointed out.

Time Limit Cited
"Either a redistricting or a council-at-large election must by law be held at least 90 days prior to the April councilmanic elections," City Attorney Jerry Bunker told the council.

He said such an election could be held as late as January and still qualify, but recommended a December date. Holding of such an election within 90 days of or at the same time as the April election would make any change inoperative for another two years, Bunker said.

Beebe asked his fellow council members "what would be wrong with scrapping this resolution, and putting the voting at large?" McKinney proposed the ballot with a balloting-at-large versus redistricting proposal to be answered first. Councilman Harry Paisley called for the vote of the people on the selection of councilmen on a city-wide basis.

Strebe Favors Delay
Councilman Earle Strebe proposed that the council incorporate the special election with the April general election, when three incumbent councilmanic seats will be vacated. Seats up for April election will be those held by Mayor Frank Bogert, Councilman George Beebe, and Councilwoman Carlin.

"If you do that, you can't put it into effect — however the election turns out — for another two years," City Attorney Jerry Bunker told the council.

"It would save very little money at best, because all the districts would be having a special election anyway except for the three out of seven where councilmanic election is due," Mrs. Carlin said.

Warns On Liaison
Mrs. Carlin warned that councilmanic elections at large would lessen the liaison between council members and their constituents. She added that "all the council members could be elected from one part of town," if the at-large councilmanic system were adopted.

Beebe stated he thought Mrs. Carlin's position was "a very fair answer."

Bunker, in answer to council queries, told the city legislative body that state law requires a five-member council if the council is elected at large.

Most Vote At-Large
This would mean that at least three persons would be seeking one council seat, and the other four incumbents would retain their seats for two more years.

Desert Sun Publisher Carl Schooss asked City Manager Dan Wagner about the number of California general law cities using the councilmanic district compared to those electing councilmen at large.

"Isn't the number about five or six using districts, compared to approximately 300 using council-at-large elections," he asked.

SENATE-HOUSE DEAL SPEEDS ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS

Foster Named Head of New Arms Control

Republican Chief Of Disarmament; Former ECA Head

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Kennedy today put the new U.S. disarmament program into formal action by announcing his selection of William C. Foster, a Republican and former boss of the foreign aid program, to head the new arms control and disarmament agency created by Congress.

The chief executive, shortly before leaving New York for a week holiday at Newport, R.I., signed a bill setting up the agency that will co-ordinate all American disarmament efforts and follow through on the broad step-by-step disarmament plan he presented to the United Nations Monday.

Foster was present as Kennedy signed the measure in his suite of the Carlyle Hotel before a group of congressmen who piloted the bill through the House.

Foster, former head of the Economic Cooperation Administration and an assistant secretary of defense in the Truman administration, has been working for some months with John J. McCloy, chief U.S. disarmament negotiator, in drafting the over-all program presented to the United Nations.

Kennedy told newsmen that his selection of a Republican to lead America's new disarmament agency "indicates the bipartisan, national concern of both parties and of all Americans for this effort to disarm all mankind with adequate safeguards."

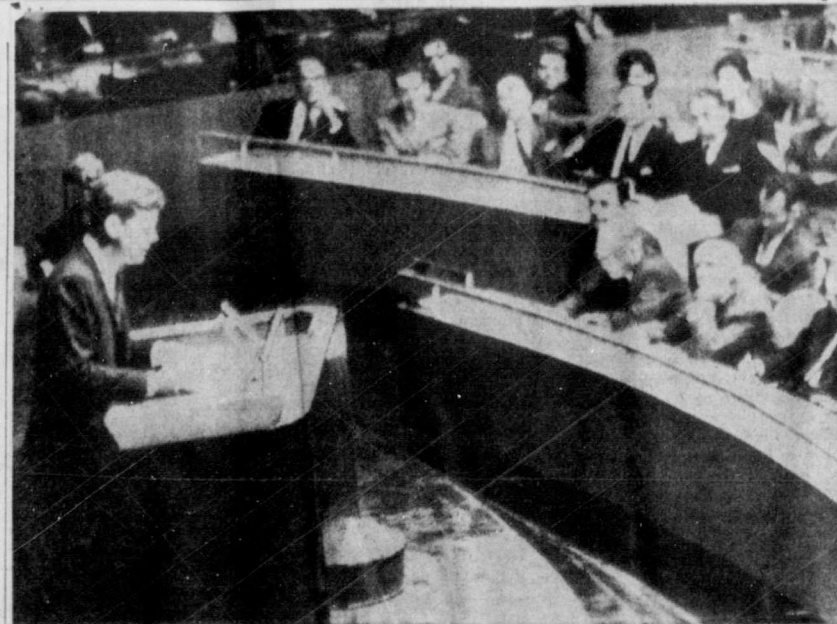

THIRD ILLEGAL MOVE-IN

Goldilocks Housebreaker Hits Another Residence

Palm Springs' "Goldilocks" housebreaker drank some liquor, played some hi-fi records, slept in the bed, but left the cigarettes alone in the latest reported entry, at the William Edries residence.

Palm Springs police investigators told The Desert Sun today that a half-inch pry tool had been used to force a front, west side, and kitchen door into the house at 1030 Cielo Dr., apparently sometime Sunday or Monday.

Evidence at the scene indicated the intruder had slept in a bed taken the lock off the hi-fi record player and enjoyed some music—leaving records strewn on the

40-Mile Walk Across Desert

INDIO (UPI)—John C. Ludy, 48, was recovering today from what he estimated to be a 40-mile walk across the desert between Riverside and Imperial counties.

Ludy of Pacific Beach was picked up Monday by a passing motorist on the Niland-Blythe road after hiking for 12 hours. He was taken to Casita Hospital here for treatment of badly blistered feet and for observation.

Ludy said he was searching for odd-shaped rocks in the Chuckawalla Mountains area when a boulder ripped a crankcase off his pickup truck. This was about 4:30 Sunday afternoon.

News In Brief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States charged today that Soviet military planes have made "numerous aerial incursions" over West Germany in recent weeks.

But it said it did not want to consider these flights as "provocations." And it appealed to Russia to calm down the tense situation over the Berlin air corridors.

Western Union Manager Found Hiding in Texas

INDIO — Charles M. Sitton, 38, the former manager of the Western Union Telegraph Office here, is in custody in Dallas, Tex., after law enforcement agencies throughout the United States traced him over three quarters of the country.

Sitton was wanted on a warrant from Indio police for the alleged theft last April 20 of $4,461, which he allegedly took from a company safe.

The suspect, who resided at 37-472 Melrose Drive, Cathedral City, is reportedly wanted by police and sheriff departments throughout the Southern states on bad check charges.

Sitton allegedly took the money from the company safe on the evening of April 20, and drove his flashy sports car to Los Angeles International Airport where he abandoned it.

According to Capt. Homer Hunt, Sitton has waived extradition and will be returned to Indio for arraignment and trial.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Pravda devoted only 36 words today to President Kennedy's United Nations speech but surprisingly reprinted an American newspaper story highly praising Kennedy and referring to Premier Nikita Khrushchev as possibly a "madman."

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—Richard M. Nixon's decision on his plans for his political future was anxiously awaited today by both Democrats and Republicans.

The former vice president, 48, who narrowly lost the presidential election last year, is expected to announce Wednesday night in Los Angeles what role he intends to play in both national and state politics in the years ahead.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — United Nations officials planned to move their Elisabethville hospital to the outskirts today to protect it from a possible resumption of warfare in Katanga.

The hospital has been located within 100 yards of the strategically important Elisabethville post office - communications center.

WILSON, La. (UPI)—Charles E. Wilson, 71, former president of General Motors and defense secretary in the Eisenhower administration, died in his sleep today of a heart attack.

Cologne in Discussion On Highway Problem

Riverside County officials are working closely with state engineers on the problem of improving Highway 111 through the resort area, but there is no early solution in sight.

That's the gist of a report to the Coachella Valley Advisory Planning Committee Monday night by Gordon B. Cologne of Indio, 71st District State Assemblyman.

Pointing out that the desires of the communities along Highway 111 were in many ways incompatible with each other, Cologne reminded of the hearings already held and that others would be conducted before improvement work is undertaken from Palm Springs southward.

And the assemblyman announced flatly that in his opinion a limited access expressway such

Negotiators Give JFK $4 Billion For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House-Senate negotiators agreed today to give President Kennedy slightly less than $4 billion for his foreign aid program, removing the biggest remaining roadblock to an early adjournment of Congress. The compromise ended a week-long struggle to reconcile differences between a House-passed bill carrying $3.6 billion and a $4.2 billion Senate bill. Key lawmakers said the compromise bill would be called up for House approval later today.

Police Rousts East Germans From Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — French troops and West Berlin riot police today expelled a group of armed East German border guards from a strip of West Berlin territory.

A unit of the Communist border police, recently incorporated into the regular East German army, crossed into West Berlin territory in the French sector to repair a stretch of barbed wire torn down by an angry West Berlin crowd Monday night.

Two vopos (people's police) had fled to the West through the twisted entanglement.

The Communist troops drove up to the East-West city border and spread out on the West side of their barrier to repair the barbed wire. Other Red guards pointed their weapons at the West Berlin police on duty there.

An alarm call brought a squad of West Berlin riot police, and a Jeep and two trucks loaded with French troops. As they advanced, the Communists moved back to their own side of the border.

Communist East German police Monday night fired five shots at a group of East Berliners who leaped to safety from an apartment house on the border of the divided city, West Berlin authorities reported.

Police said that shortly before midnight, two women, one man and two children jumped from a third-story apartment into the nets of West Berlin firemen. Communist police fired five shots at the refugees but no one was wounded.

In an attempt to prevent refugees from escaping to West Berlin, the Communists are creating a 100-yard wide "death strip" by tearing down houses along the border.

To Extend "Strip"
The Communists plan to extend this "no-man's land" the entire length of the 25-mile border to end even the slight trickle of escapees.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., a member of the House-Senate conference group working on the aid bill, had said earlier that an agreement was imminent.

He made the forecast after a huddle with two House negotiators—Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., and J. Vaughan Gary, D-Va.

However legislative leaders saw little hope for winding up the longest congressional session in 10 years before Wednesday.

The foreign aid battle had become a test of wills between Senate conferees and the House negotiators.

Passman, a long-time critic of foreign aid, had declared earlier that "I'll quit before I capitulate."

The Senate, meantime, opened debate on a $1 billion supplemental appropriations bill to finance a variety of government programs.

Humphrey Pushes Amendment
There was at least a minor controversy on this measure, too. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., pushed an amendment to add $5 million, for District of Columbia schools as aid to a federally impacted area.

The House was expected to act on the $3.9 billion public works appropriations measure. Senate-House negotiators agreed on the compromise public works bill Monday.

The foreign aid negotiators met for two and a half hours Monday but broke up Monday night with a final settlement still "up in the air" in the words of several members.

Members Optimistic
The issue holding the House and Senate members apart, it was understood, was whether about $30 million for the Peace Corps and about $105 million in unobligated balances should be counted as part of the foreign aid package.

Senate members were said to be holding out for an aid figure of about $4 billion, exclusive of these two items.

There was some talk that the deadlock might force Congress to authorize aid spending at current levels until a decision could be reached next year. However, most members felt an agreement would be reached.

TOKYO (UPI) — Queen Mother Elisabeth of Belgium arrived in Communist China for a visit, the New China News Agency reported.

Carlin Kills New Specs on Hotel Boards

Councilwoman Mrs. Mary Carlin killed an emergency measure setting up new specifications for attraction boards, and tying the board usage to parking and other matters — but she made her fellow council members like it last night.

Councilman Earl Strebe, who said he didn't like attraction boards on local hotels, called for a restriction to 50 square feet, with parallel placement on the building involved.

This couldn't be done in many cases, sign maker William Maidhof told the council.

The new ordinance, tying the variance board approved signs to parking, with a maximum of 50 square feet on two sides if a right-angle sign is used, needed a unanimous council vote to carry the emergency. Mrs. Carlin said she thought it unfair, because it would permit present sign holders to continue their operations, prevent new ones.

Councilman George Beebe and Sherman Dickinson, president of the Palm Springs Hotel and Apartment Association, agreed that attraction boards should be restricted to announcing live entertainment.

"These signs are a public service," Dickinson said. Stanley Spiegelman, owner of the President Hotel, termed them a cultural contribution. Strebe and Councilman Harry Paisley still opposed the signs, but agreed to an emergency ordinance.

"It will never make it," Mrs. Carlin smiled. The ordinance failed as an emergency, 5-6, was authorized for Oct. 9 passage, 5-6.

The Council approved an attraction board for the Trinidad Hotel, and by a no-action 3-3 tie, approved the variance board action giving a board to the President Hotel.

Council Fails To Amend Zone Ordinance

The City Council failed to amend the zoning ordinance relative to off-street parking, landscaping, building site area and set-back in C-1, C-2, and M-1 commercial zones.

The council didn't even hear the amendments read, though most had already read the planning commission proposals.

The action was by-passed because there weren't enough council members left at 1:15 a.m. to pass an emergency measure.

Mayor Frank Bogert explained he had to be in Mexico to catch a plane at 4 a.m. He turned the meeting over to Councilman Ted McKinney. Councilman George Beebe had already left. Councilman Kenneth Kirk was not in town.

The matter will come up again Oct. 9.

Charles Benson, Federal Aviation Authority regional director, and Ken Kellner, FAA airport engineer, will be asked to meet here with members of the commission to work out details of the city's request for aid in building new facilities, and for reimbursement for purchase of airport lands.

The FAA notified the city that it had received awaited information from Washington on the amount of federal aid funds that will be available. President John Kennedy recently signed the bill for the coming year aid into law.

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 25, the 269th day of the year with 96 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:
In 1789, President George Washington appointed John Jay to be the first chief justice of the Supreme Court.

In 1888, poet T. S. Eliot was born in St. Louis.

In 1959, the worst typhoon in Japanese history struck central Honshu killing 4,464 persons, injuring 9,419. Nine hundred others were missing and one million homeless.

A thought for today: American writer Thornton Wilder said, "For what human ill does not dawn seem to be an alleviation?"

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Saturday will mark "I Am An American Day," in this High-Desert community.

Parades, bands, special programs and athletic events will mark the affair that is sponsored by the Oasis of Maru Lodge No. 735, F&AM.

In addition to several special programs and events scheduled for the day-long celebration, 24 local organizations will sponsor food or display booths, it was announced by Mr. Ken Carter, general chairman.

A "Kiddie Parade" will start off the days festivities at 10:30 a.m. The Twentynine Palms Business and Professional Women's Club will sponsor the parade. Children between the ages of 1 and 12 have been invited to take part, with two different groups participating.

Uncle Sam Lives in 29 Palms

Uncle Sam lives in Twentynine Palms.

Leslie Doyle Spell, 80, a white haired, thin prototype of the public's conception of Uncle Sam, resides with his wife, Hazel, on their homestead just on the outskirts of Twentynine Palms.

Spell resembles the patriotic symbol of the United States so well, in fact, that civic organizations, social and fraternal groups request him to dress up in his red, white and blue suit and appear for patriotic reasons.

He plans on having a full day of Uncle Sam activity as the community of Twentynine Palms will be celebrating "I Am An American Day," on Sept. 30.

The day long celebration will be held in the Community Recreation Park.

Band music, speeches and a general carnival atmosphere will prevail. Les Spell will highlight the evenings program with his appearance as Uncle Sam.

Spell is a retired hard rock miner from Cripple Creek, Colo. At the present time, both he and his wife are publishing a volume on the history of Twentynine Palms and the High Desert. He compiled, with the help of his wife, the historical background of the early days of his home, Cripple Creek.

The youngsters will be divided into two age groups, one through six and seven through twelve years of age. First and second prizes will be awarded in each age group for the best costumes and for the most decorative float, go-car, tricycle or bike. In addition to these four prizes, a Sweep-stake Award will be presented to the most outstanding entry.

Mrs. Beulah B. Smith will act as parade chairman.

The Sky Divers Club of Twentynine Palms will present a show during the afternoon, as will horsemen and ladies of Corral 29 of the Equestrian Trails.

Clowns, Too

Bill Proctor, Twentynine Palms Park and Recreation Director, has arranged a swimming and diving exhibition, complete with clowns and other extras to amuse the entire family. Proctor will arrange and supervise children and adult games at the Recreation Park following the "Kiddie Parade." Prizes and ribbons will be awarded for the contest winners.

Carl Shappel will hold a gold panning exhibition during the afternoon and a donkey baseball game, with local players, is also on the program.

Uncle Sam

One of the highlights of the special program, according to the program chairman, will be the appearance of Leslie Spell, of Twentynine Palms, as Uncle Sam. Mr. Spell will be on the platform during the evening to address the younger set present. He will also introduce guest speakers who will make up the evenings program.

The 40 piece Marine Corps Band will furnish the music for this program.

Fair Booths

The food and display booths will be erected on Luckie Avenue and will be occupied by the following organizations: The Upsilon Alpha and Upsilon Zeta Chapters of Beta Sigma Phi, Soroptimists, Junior Women's Club of Twentynine Palms, the Firemen's Wives, Jobs Daughters, the DAR, Forget-Me-Not-Club, Knights of Columbus and the Rotary Club.

Girl Scouts and Brownies of Marine Corps Base Lone Troop 12 will be represented as will the Boy Scouts, the City of Hope, the WW I Barracks, the Corral 29 of Equestrian Trails, the DAV, the High-Desert Tract Owners Association, the Lions Club, Elks, the USO and the Recreation Park Coaches Association.

Meeting Oct. 7 On Trailer Rally

Representatives of the Palm Springs Trailers Association, Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants will meet Oct. 7 at Sahara Park to formulate plans for the 11th annual Palm Springs Trailer Rally, it was announced Monday by Rex Thompson, vice president of the mobile homes group.

The rally, which has brought thousands here each fall since its inception in 1950, will exceed all previous gatherings, Thompson said.

Representatives of three trailer groups — Travel Trailer Club of America, Western Council of Trailer Clubs and Airstream Trailer, Inc. — will be present at the October meeting. Paul Harrison, the local association's secretary, said.

Dates for the annual Rally have been set for Nov. 17-19 at the Polo Grounds, and the event may bring 100,000 visitors to Palm Springs. Last year 60,000 attended.

Water Bill for States Rights Introduced

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., has introduced a bill which would strengthen the position of states in disputes with the federal government on water rights.

The measure provides that withdrawal of public lands by the federal government would not affect water rights acquired earlier under state laws.

Kuchel said his bill was aimed at offsetting a U.S. Supreme Court decision in the Pelton Dam case in Oregon. In that ruling, the court decided that a project built under a federal power commission license for a federal purpose did not have to comply with state water laws.

URGES LEARNING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk Monday urged Americans to learn more about their government.

Rusk said he had noticed that Soviet students visiting here are always "cramped to the finger tips" with answers to questions about communism. But he said Americans visiting Russia sometimes find themselves at a loss under similar cross-questioning.

TWENTYNINE PALMS — The Sheriff's Department reported Monday that it had received information that a warrant had been issued by the State of Oklahoma for the arrest of a Maj. Francis A. Gore, whose last known address was Marine Corps Base, Twentynine Palms.

According to information received at the Twentynine Palms Sub-station, the warrant was issued for "Bogus checks."

The investigating officers contacted the Marine Corps Base and received the information that Maj. Gore was presently under observation at the Marine Corps Base Hospital, Camp Pendleton.

Hammonds Home And Busy Again

With their young people back in college, Wendi at University of California at Santa Barbara, Denny at Fresno State and Gary at San Diego State, Alex and Wynne Hammonds are back at work, he at Palm Springs High School and she with her voice students.

Wynne's women's chorus is in rehearsal with 30 coming out for the opening session, and she is very proud of Tommy Pickell, one of her students, who was the winner in the boy's solo section of Southern California Vocal Festivals. The solo, which won him a scholarship in a summer music camp, was an aria from Handel's Messiah, in which he had sung the bass-baritone role in the High School's Christmas performance. Tommy is a member of The Villagers, a quartet of high school boys that made many appearances around town last season.

The Hammonds went on a 5,000 mile motor trip of the western states this summer.

Visit Las Vegas

Mr. and Mrs. Jules DeVorzon celebrated his birthday on a weekend trip to Las Vegas. They stayed at the Stardust with the John Waks, and a birthday cake was served, when the two couples dined during the Lido show.

Around Town

... with Hildy Crawford

It was a busy weekend... with the Dunes and Ranch Club openings and the press activities in connection with the Bob Cummings Show, which will hit the television screens Oct. 5 at 8:30. Hank Gogerty's Desert Air Park which is the locale for this new TV series for the popular young star, was chosen as the setting for the Saturday night press party when segments of the new show were shown. The producers requested that no advance reviews be written, so I'll just tell you to watch for it. It's fresh and sparkling and you will glimpse Desert Air and the Bob McCulloch house, with its sunken air-conditioned tennis courts.

The star of the show was at the Desert Air party, and wearing sandals because someone had forgotten to pack his shoes and socks for the weekend jaunt. He was also wearing one of those alarm wristwatches, that went off while he was eating dinner. He turned it off and commented casually, "Something's supposed to happen... but I forget what."

While we were down at the airstrip inspecting the aero-car which is featured in the Bob Cummings Show, a Cessna 310 landed with newlyweds Evelyn and Lloyd Whaley, who had just been married in Point Loma. The bride is the former Mrs. Evelyn Curtis of San Diego.

The bridegroom, who has many acquaintances here, is a land developer, president of Paradise Country Club at Las Vegas and a member of Eldorado.

The Bill Daughertys (he's Eldorado's manager) were waiting to meet them and the Whaleys spent the weekend here. They were to leave today to fly to Jackson Hole and then to Nebraska on an extended honeymoon.

Homesick for Palm Springs. Marjorie and Francis Guder cut short their two month stay in North Carolina and came home at the end of the first month. Eastern newspapers devoted much feature space to the beloved actress (she's Marjorie Rambeau) visiting in their midst.

Invitations are out for the Oct. 7 wedding of Shirley Dunfield and Cliff Brown, who will say their "I dos" in an informal afternoon ceremony at Indian Wells Country Club, with reception following. Jeano Bailard will be coming down from Carpinteria for the wedding and will be here for several days, visiting her many friends.

Jeano's sister Jacque Otto and her daughter Linda, former Palm Springers, were busy at Hollywood Park and Del Mar this summer, with their three-year-old Predetermine, who ran so well that Jacque wound up holding red roses in the winners circle several times.

They are living in Beverly Hills now and Linda is in her sophomore year at Marlborough.

Eleanor Kane and Anne Gougler are reported to be winding up their visit at San Ysidro Ranch in Montecito (Ellie's daughter and son-in-law Lou and Al Weingand own it) and about ready to head for their Palm Springs home.

Busy settling into their Wawona Road home is Mickey (Mrs. George) Wheeler, who spent most of the summer in Downey, with George going back and forth.

Mickey, who was at the Golden Door for a week in August, was being much complimented at yesterday's Pathfinder meeting.

Peggy and Sterling Pailing, who have been in and out all summer, were out again this weekend, but now they are home and say they're here to stay.

Martin Beck, was in the Village for a short visit, and said he and Verkina and son John will stay in Santa Monica, where they spent the summer, but he will stage his usual productions here this winter.

Martin is busy right now shooting a documentary on the beatnik, and other professional work requires his presence nearer to Hollywood.

The Chase Garfields (she's the former Madge Phillips) are at home on Patencio. Following their marriage this summer, they honeymooned in Honolulu.

Henry and Elaine Untermyer, who had hoped to manage a desert visit about now, have other plans. They are going to Europe for five weeks.

Hank, who has just been appointed regional sales manager of Viking Sauna, a San Francisco distributor of electric heating units, was with CBS for 22 years and has been an account executive for KABL in San Francisco for the past two and a half years.

Actually he's going abroad to inspect his new company's installations in Denmark and Finland and visit the manufacturer in Sweden.

Hank joins Vini Rurac to play tennis in Geneva, Wiesbaden, Lucerne, Rome and Cannes and Elaine will meet him in Lucerne for the inspection tour.

He's due to return to San Francisco and assume his new duties on Oct. 23, and they hope to get their desert visit in later this fall.

THE LLOYD WHALEYS, center, who had just been married at Point Loma, were met at Desert Air Park by Mr. and Mrs. William Daugherty of Eldorado. The bride is the former Evelyn Curtis of San Diego.

Wives' Club Installs At Twentynine

Newly-elected officers of the Twentynine Palms Marine Corps Base Non-Commissioned Officers' Wives' Club were installed in an impressive candlelight ceremony.

Honoring the group with their presence at the dinner program were Mrs. Lewis J. Fields, wife of the commanding general, and Mrs. Wilson F. Humphries, whose husband is chief of staff.

The Club president, Mrs. Russell Jordan, who was installed for a second term of office, was presented with a gift from the membership, with Mrs. Donald Hancock, outgoing vice president, making the presentation.

Other officers installed by Mrs. John Knott were vice president, Mrs. Emery Krokty; recording secretary Mrs. Russell Watts; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Matthew Jaklewicz; and treasurer, Mrs. William Walker.

Desert Cities Group Plans November Breakfast Here

Progress reports for the Snowflake Fantasy breakfast to be held in Palm Springs at the Riviera in November, were made by all committees, when Desert Cities Council of Beta Sigma Phi met in India in the conference room of Security First National Bank. The breakfast, which will honor mothers of Beta Sigma Phi members, is under the chairmanship of Carol Merino.

With Council president conducting the meeting, several sorority projects were discussed, and Marge Hayes was appointed historian, and Linda Durning delegated to handle publicity for the India area.

Invitations to Chi Theta's Getting To Know You Dance on Oct. 7, at the Cathedral City Town Hall were extended by Iris Down, and Vivian Allchin announced a smorgasbord to be sponsored by Xi Iota Epsilon Chapter in India, in late October.

Radioactive Pollution By Reds Seen At 1958 Level

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. fallout experts said today the Russians may have thrown as much radioactive pollution into the atmosphere in the first three weeks of their 1961 tests as they did in five weeks of extremely dirty testing in the fall of 1958.

The Soviet autumn tests of 1958 produced the heaviest fallout of radioactive debris from the Stratosphere ever recorded in the United States. Those tests started Sept. 30 and ended Nov. 3. This year's began Sept. 1.

In the 1958 fall series, the Russians exploded 16 nuclear devices, seven of which were equal in power to a megaton or more of TNT.

Reporter In Walker Slander Seeks Help

AUGSBURG, Germany (UPI)—The lawyer for a German reporter on trial for alleged slander of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker today asked the court to call two congressmen and the Army secretary as witnesses.

Lothar Kolb, attorney for Siegfried Naujocks, said he wanted Army Secretary Elvis Stahr Jr. to prove there are no Army rules prohibiting a press officer from issuing statements about the health of officers.

Lt. Col. J. W. Peterson, chief information officer for the 24th Infantry Division, testified last week release of such information was forbidden because it could "be of aid and comfort to the enemy."

Naujocks is charged with three counts of criminal slander against Walker, 24th Division commander until April when he was relieved of command by the Pentagon.

The general, a native of Texas, was suspended during an investigation of statements attributed to him by the Overseas Weekly. Naujocks is a reporter for the paper, an American-owned tabloid catering to American troops in Germany.

Naujocks testified Thursday he had called Walker "crazy" but refused to elaborate on the ground he would have to reveal U.S. military secrets and might later be tried for that.

One of the major points of the case is Walker's allegation Naujocks called him "mentally incapacitated." The reporter said he had a copy of a medical report stating the general had a brain tumor, but Army press officers refused him information on the subject.

ROTC Uniforms Galore Cleaned

Proclaimed as a most unusual job — for Palm Springs especially — George Ripley reported today that his cleaning firm has just completed the cleaning of between 4,000 and 5,000 R.O.T.C. uniforms.

Won on a bid basis by Palm Springs Desert Hand Laundry, the uniforms were collected by a laundry van from a total of 28 institutions around Southern California.

These places included school districts in Pasadena, Los Angeles, Glendale and Long Beach and the University of California at Los Angeles. Schools in Orange County were also included.

The contract was let by the U.S. Army at San Pedro.

Ripley said that his staff was kept busy sewing on buttons, gold braid, and chevrons, and in general making repairs to the uniforms.

He did not say how long the job took him to put through his plant on East Ramon Road, but the uniforms are now being delivered to the respective schools.

Greenwald Suit Asks $70,000

INDIO — A suit has been filed by the law firm of McGahey and Pressleigh, attorneys for Cornelius Sullivan and Jack Daut, against Louis Greenwald, asking for a total of more than $70,000 in damages.

The suit was filed as the result of an accident in Palm Springs in which the two young men were struck down in the street by a car driven by Greenwald just about one year ago.

The men are asking for $25,000 each in general damages, all medical expenses, re-imbursement of gross earnings lost as a result of the accident, $10,000 each in exemplary damages, and costs of the suit.

Fallout--How Much Danger Threatens Us?

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists expect most of the long-lasting radioactive poison hurled into the high atmosphere by this month's Soviet atomic tests to settle on the earth in a four-month period starting in February.

They will not be surprised if next spring's fallout sets a new record. The present mark was set by the Russians in 1959.

What Dr. Lester Machia of the Weather Bureau calls "the greatest fallout ever recorded" occurred in March, April, May, and June of 1959. It came from the Soviet tests of October, 1958.

This year's Russian tests started a month earlier and continued at a pace which threatened to surpass the 1959 rate.

What humanity will suffer from this radioactive contamination imposed upon it by Russia is not known. Science so far has been unable to detect the measure of whatever damage is done to man by low radiation doses such as those normally associated with worldwide test fallout.

This radiation is small to the disappearing point compared with the instantaneous radiation from an exploding bomb or that from quickly descending "local fallout." Local fallout in wartime could produce, a few miles down wind from the explosion, radiation exposures amounting in an hour to thousands of times the dosage received from test fallout over a period of years.

The Soviet test fallout in the spring of 1959 increased by about 50 per cent the amount of strontium-90 deposited on the United States by all previous American, Russian, and British tests.

The 1961 Russian tests, if they prove comparable to those of October, 1958, could build up the strontium-90 contamination of the United States by 30 per cent above present levels.

Strontium-90 is one of the most menacing products of atomic fission. It is long-lived. It gets into plants and thence into milk and human bones. Very young children, whose diet is mainly milk and whose bones are growing rapidly, absorb more strontium-90 than adults.

It is known that in large amounts — large by comparison with those resulting from test fallout — strontium-90 can cause bone cancer in animals. It may also cause leukemia.

There may or may not be a dose level below which strontium-90 can do no bodily harm. Scientists are not agreed whether such a threshold exists.

When nuclear weapons are tested, some of their radioactive products are deposited into the troposphere, the so-called "weather zone." Above the troposphere, at altitudes ranging from 30,000 to 55,000 feet, depending on the latitude, is a vast region of relative calm known as the stratosphere.

Small bombs tested above ground throw all of their fission products into the troposphere. It stays there a matter of weeks. Tropospheric contamination from the Soviet tests has been detected all around the Northern Hemisphere.

But it has been so slight, according to government experts, as not to pose any public health threat.

The great contaminants are the "dirty" H-bombs, with their fission triggers and jackets, which spew the bulk of their poison into the stratosphere.

Fallout of major proportions from past explosions had all but disappeared from the atmosphere until the Russians resumed testing on Sept. 1.

Once radioactive debris gets down from the stratosphere into the troposphere, fallout tends to be heaviest in regions where rainfall is heaviest.

For this reason next spring's fallout from the current Soviet tests is expected to be about twice as heavy in a large part of the United States as it is in Russia except for comparatively rainy southeastern Siberia.

According to Atomic Energy Commission figures published before the new Soviet series, Americans annually receive 25 times more radiation exposure to the reproductive organs from natural sources (radiation from the earth and sky) than they get from bomb tests. The medical radiation dose (X-rays and the like) has been more than 40 times fallout exposure.

The fallout dose to these organs has been about 125 times smaller than the maximum exposure from all sources recommended by the Federal Radiation Council as the permissible limit for the general public.

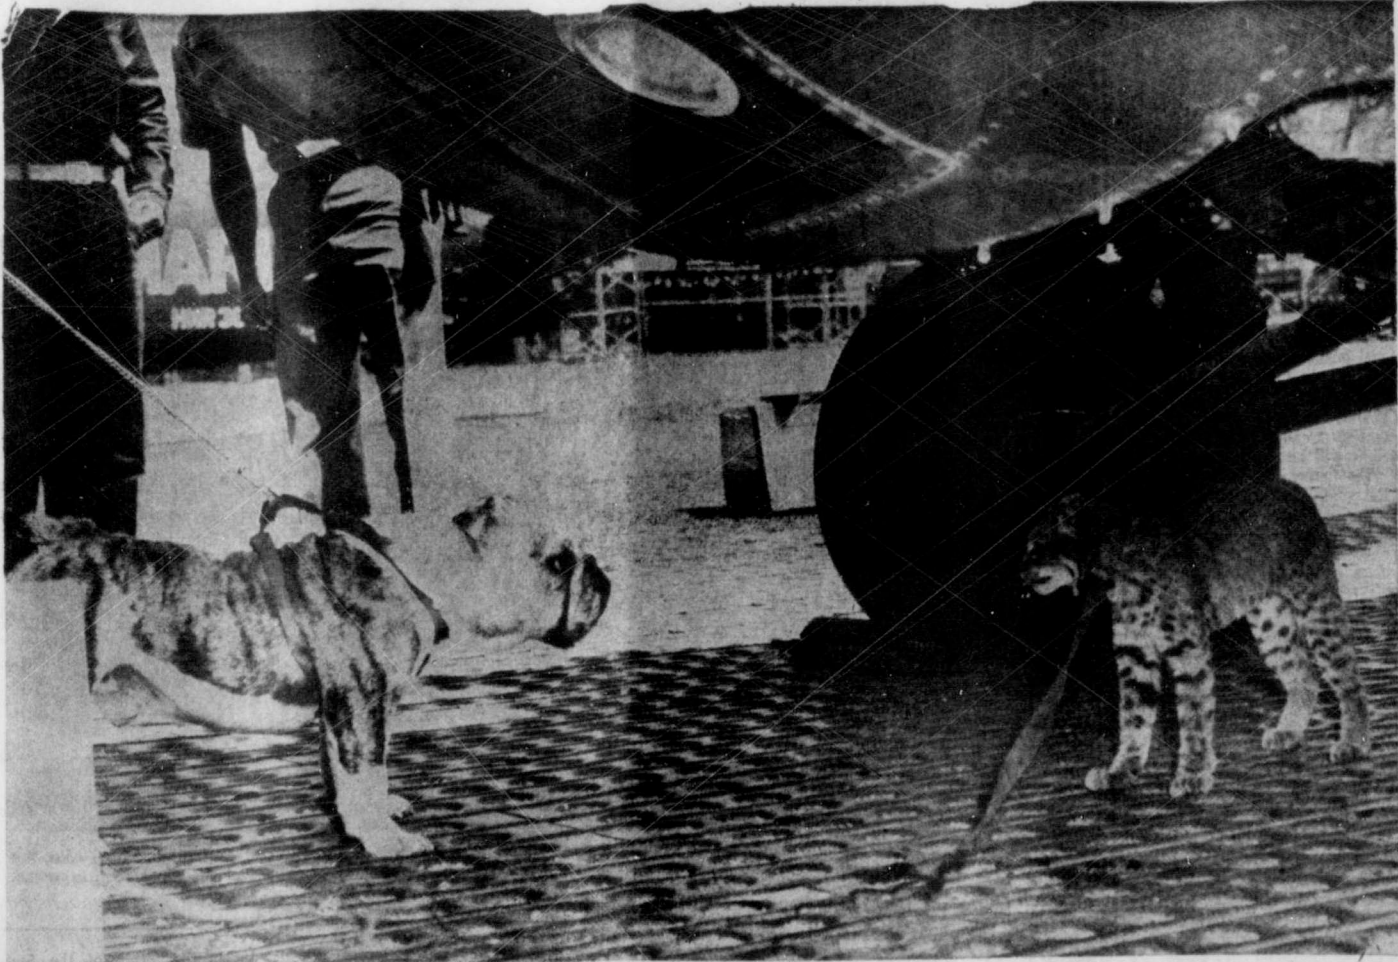

Dr. Charles L. Dunham of the AEC's biology and medicine division came up in 1959 with some damage figures based on what he said was "the quite unsubstantiated hypothesis that radiation effects are directly proportional to total dose irrespective of the dose rate."

Tests up to then, calculated on this basis, might produce over the next 70 years in the United States "some 500 greater or lesser tragedies per year including gross genetic defects — miscarriages, etc. — as well as leukemia and bone cancer cases," he said.

But according to the same hypothesis, Dunham said, "unnecessary medical X-ray exposures would be causing annually for the next 30 years some 3,000 greater or lesser tragedies of genetic origin."

Such calculations, however comforting or frightening, do not take into account the "hot spots." Ever since nuclear testing started in a big way, it has become apparent that some communities from time to time get far more than average exposure.

After a Nevada test series in 1953, for example, Troy, N.Y., briefly was exposed to radiation levels about 1,000 times normal.

BULLDOG MEETS BOBCAT shortly after his capture in the desert wastelands by two helicopter pilots. This bobcat was met at the Marine Corps Base, Twentynine Palms air strip by the Base Mascot,

Pfc. Jiggs. The feline animal was captured by Lieutenants Dave Jones and Gordon Young of HMR 361 of the Marine Corps Air Facility at Santa Ana, while the helicopter crew was operating in the

Marine Fliers Capture Cat In Desert Area

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Lt.

Dave Jones and Lt. Gordon Young, members of HMR 361 from the Marine Corps Air Facility at Santa Ana pilots of HUS helicopter which has been operating in this area, became "big game hunters" when they captured a nine-month-old cat.

While flying over the foothills of the Bullion Mountain range here, they spotted the cat from the air. They landed their copter near the "unfriendly" animal and Lt. Young jumped out to make the capture after several minutes of chase in the desertous brush.

"It was one of the funniest things I've ever seen," said Lt. Jones who watched his companion chase the feline over and around sand dunes and tumbleweeds.

It seems that the cat had decided not to accompany the helicopter crew and was protesting with flying claws and vicious hisses as Lt. Young carried him with a strap secured around the animal's mid-section.

One unique feature of the cat is that it is not an ordinary household tabby, but a young bobcat who had definite ideas as to where he was going and they didn't include an airborne trip to this Base. However, the reluctant visitor made the trip and spent the morning as a guest of the Base Flight Operations Section near the landing strip.

Lt. Jones plans to keep the cat and make a pet out of it. He said that he had a bobcat as a pet when he was younger and commented that "they make good pets."

During the course of the morning the young cat had many visitors but didn't take to strangers any better that it took to its handlers.

An unidentified person notified Pfc. Jiggs, the base mascot, that there was a strange visitor aboard and without too much delay the English Bulldog was on the scene investigating the new arrival. The cat didn't care for the dog and became a little excited but Jiggs kept a "cool head" and the meeting went without further incident.

The dog's attitude seemed to be somewhat indifferent but he wasn't going to get too close.

Lt. Young reports that the nickname of the HMR 361 unit is the "Tigers" and Lt. Jones decided that this cat was possibly the closest available facsimile. In commenting on his decision to take the cat home, Lt. Jones said, "Everyone in my neighborhood has a dog so I'm going to have a cat."

Shell Blasts Socialism in California

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Joseph C. Shell, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, has charged the current Democratic administration with increasing socialism in California.

The Los Angeles assemblyman, at a Republican rally here Saturday, said: "The administration under Gov. (Edmund G.) Brown is radical socialism—let's face it."

Shell said he was not running against any Republican in the governorship race and added: "I'm running against Pat Brown."

But he said the GOP candidate "must have a concise presentation of the issues and not a bagful of polls. Neither can he have postured so as to embarrass others or to curry favors from others."

Financial Gossip

By JESSE BOGUE

NEW YORK (UPI) — With all the energy that a six-foot-six, 42-year old Navy veteran can pack into a job, Arthur I. Melvin of Oak Brook, Ill., today is pushing an idea which he believes is a creator of business and a maker of jobs.

Melvin, the executive director of an organization called Partake, Inc., and a growing number of businessmen he has recruited as advisors or area directors, aim to bring together the business with a product or service to sell and a franchise holder to get it the widest distribution possible.

"We think," said Melvin on a trip to New York "that we can help solve the problems of economics by catalysis—in other words, by the agency that brings together the producer and the biggest market."

Dealing in franchises is not new to the business world, of course. But Melvin, whose concern was incorporated last February, has gone at it with the idea of approaching concerns in all fields of production and service, particularly those who are convinced of the soundness of their product but lack the know-how to get into a broad or national market.

He aims to get area directors into 300 major metropolitan marketing areas and 50 more to direct the job in states not covered by the metropolitan directorships. He is convinced that the organization can spread overseas, and one member of his advisory board now is examining prospects in the British Isles and in Scandinavia.

"It's not easy to become an area director, either," Melvin said. "We don't want the 'coupon-clipper' who's just looking for something to peddle. We give them a good questionnaire. Then we interview them. We're looking for leaders."

Newspaper Advertising Brings
Reader Response...through Buying Action!

More buying action results from newspaper advertising because of the atmosphere of believability. You've heard people say, "I know it's true, it's in the papers." The printed word has always been accepted as more honest and binding.

Newspapers report facts; other media offer entertainment. Your advertising in an atmosphere of believability is bound to induce more "want-to-buy" action than that framed in fiction or entertainment.

Newspapers offer another vital element—an atmosphere of timeliness and urgency. This sense of immediacy fosters "here-and-now" sales action that no other print medium can match.

If it's a question of consumer response—newspapers are the answer!

Danny Thomas is Held Film's Proudest Dad

By RICK DU BROW
UPI Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Hollywood's proudest father these days is Danny Thomas, who tried hard to discourage his daughter from the heartbreaks of an acting career and saw her win stardom on her own.

The comedian's offspring, Marlo, a 22-year-old dark-haired beauty, was a smash hit in a local theater production of "Gigi" and won a featured spot on NBC-TV's new "Mr. Joey Bishop" series this fall.

Thomas' company is executive producer of the Bishop show — and Danny was against Marlo appearing in it because he felt many people would think it was just a case of a father giving his daughter a job. But other executives convinced him Marlo had won her own spurs.

Sitting in the Desilu commissary with Marlo between the scenes of his own "Danny Thomas Show," the comedian said: "I wasn't enthusiastic about Marlo acting because our business is an uncertain business. The chances to make it are one in a million."

Sparing Himself
"But then I realized that maybe I was being selfish. I was trying to spare myself — not her. I didn't want to see her suffer and go through all my own heartaches all over again. I wonder if many parents don't say they're protecting their children when they really mean they're protecting themselves."

Marlo handled herself and Danny with great tact in her drive to be an actress. At his wish, she studied to be a teacher at the University of Southern California, knowing all the time it wasn't what she wanted.

"When I saw the result," said Thomas, "I said, 'Well, she's okay,' but after all she was playing my daughter, which was natural."

Marlo credits the happy ending of her quest to a long-standing mutual respect of father and daughter.

Told To Train
"When I decided to be an actress," she said, "I was determined not to disgrace my father. I told him, 'Daddy, I want to be an actress.' He said, 'If you want that, you'd better train for it.'"

"We've always been very close. Since I was 7, he's reasoned with me. I remember once I charged a lot of money for something I bought. He sat down with me and told me, 'Whenever you spend $10, you're really spending $100, because that's how much daddy has to earn to get that $10.' It had a tremendous impression on me. He was always determined that I have a profession of my own. He told me, 'Daddy's not going to be here all your life to take care of you."

Thomas, who was born Amos Jacobs in Deerfield, Mich., 47 years ago, laughed: "Usually kids get the acting bug from their parents. But now my daughter Terry and son Tony are getting it from Marlo. Terry's singing and trying to hide it from me till she's ready. And Tony's a ham. No I told him, 'Cut it out! You know what he said? 'Sit down, boy, ya bother me.'"

Industry Need Recognized

Kenneth Smitten, president of the California Real Estate Association, honored guest and principal speaker at a meeting of realtors from the desert area last week, touched upon a subject that has long been taboo here—spreading the red carpet for industry.

He questioned the wisdom of a community basing its economy upon one industry alone. In the desert area that one industry is tourism.

As Palm Springs has been growing and booming, times have been changing. With new devices and new designs, industry is not the nasty word it once was. Industry does not necessarily mean unsightly stacks belching smoke, unpleasant odors, or blighted countryside.

Light industry can be as pleasing to the eye as a well landscaped school, as pleasing to the nose as a flower garden and with no discordant sounds. As stated, Palm Springs is growing. It is now an all-year city. The summer population is larger than the winter population was two decades ago. Tourism is a seasonal industry, our biggest one, to be sure, but it leaves a summer lag. That's because we put all of our eggs in one basket. Light industry could provide year-around jobs here what with refrigeration and other climate controls available.

The word "industry" causes many old-timers here to blanch and express horror. They see industry as it once was, unsightly factories, foul odors, irritable noises. Today industry has changed.

In Orange County, for instance, there are scores of industries. But you wouldn't know it unless you looked closely. Set back in pleasantly landscaped grounds with ample parking space for hundreds of employees, the plants have the appearance of well-kept schools. Even the oil fields are neat appearing without unsightly derricks or tanks. It's all underground.

Reasonably zoned light industries, situated in pleasant surroundings, would not constitute an eyesore. They would diversify our resources, provide a year-around economy without detracting from the charm of Palm Springs and boost our economy.

Isn't This the Limit?

If you were a man, long accustomed to keeping the largest and most important assemblage in the nation operating smoothly, gaveling presidential conventions to order for many, many years, in other words, one of the most important men in the nation, how would you like to have a woman tell you how to put on your pants?

Horrible thought, isn't it? Then consider Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House of Representatives almost since time began, so it seems. Mistah Sam, as he is called, came up with an ailing back. It laid him low. But adding insult to injury, a woman, Dr. Janet Travell, White House physician, told him he may wear pants but he puts them on wrong.

"Sam," she says, "don't stand there bent over, putting one leg in after the other. Sit on the bed and shrug 'em on both legs at once."

We have heard about women wearing the pants but telling us how to put them on seems a bit too much.

When government decides that it needs more money for some project or other, how can it raise it?

There's an easy and obvious answer — impose new taxes or increase existing taxes.

However, that answer is not always a true one. For the law of diminishing returns can apply to taxation as well as to other matters.

Take, as a prime example, the gasoline tax — state and federal combined now average some 10 cents a gallon, or about half the retail price of gas before taxes. This excessive tax, an executive of a leading oil company points out, is proving to be self-defeating.

By 1965, he predicts, the states will be deriving seven per cent less from the gas taxes than they planned, which will throw highway budget far out of kilter in numerous instances. His estimate, he adds, is born out by figures released by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

In sum, motorists are rebelling at a tax on a necessity which is far larger than the taxes on even some extreme luxuries. Their rebellion takes the practical form of reduced gas consumption. They drive less, or they buy more and more of the compact economy cars, or they do both.

Remember — you can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink!

Heads, You Lose---

Dear Abby . . .

. . . by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: I am 19, in the Service in Korea and in trouble. I have less than four months to go here, but I almost hate to go home. I have been writing to two girls back in the States who expect to marry me when I return.

I have dated both of them, but have never discussed marriage with either one. (But I did get carried away in some of my letters.) One of the girls wrote that she will be "ready" when I get home. I would like to know what she will be ready for. The other girl wrote that we could live with her parents until I got a job and we could get a place of our own. Both girls are attractive and intelligent, but I don't want to marry either one. What do I do now?

APO No. 20

DEAR APO: Since you "proposed" to both girls by mail, you had better do some creative writing fast. Tell them both that because marriage is a permanent step, before they make any plans they should wait until you get home. Put a chill on both deals now, or when you get home, the quiet of Korea will look good to you.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with your reply to Mrs. Citizen that "many mothers, in their well-meaning eagerness to make their daughters popular, encourage them to grow up too fast."

Thank heaven my mother was wiser than that. I am 18 and am a freshman at college. When I started my teens I was far from the first girl in my crowd to wear make-up, nylons and heels. I didn't get to go to all the parties, and was never Miss Popularity or anything near it. At first it bothered me, but I soon found out there were more rewarding things, such as the faith my parents had in me to live by their high standards. I don't smoke and they know I won't. I don't drink and they trust me not to start. They never doubt my word because they know I wouldn't deceive them. Although I think your advice is very good, Abby, I am glad I never had to ask for it.

Love,

BONNIE

This Side of The Sun

By R. F. 'Phat' Graettinger

A thing that builds to a slow burn
Is waiting for the guy to turn.

TO MAKE THE TURN legally, of course, one has to maneuver into the proper lane. And then wait until opposing traffic leaves a gap to pop through.

If no special left turn lane is provided, that wait can, and does hold up, all of the automobiles in the same lane behind him.

Left turns where no provision is made for them can really foul up the smooth flow of traffic.

FREEWAYS take care of this by shooing traffic off to the right, down and under or up and over. And if they do turn you to the left, there is no cross traffic to buck because of the grade separation.

City streets, however, are not freeways even if some drivers do act as if they were.

I HAVE READ opinions of some traffic experts who would make ALL left turns illegal instead of just a few as they do now when traffic is especially heavy. But I don't believe that can be done. Drivers who want to go to some spot to the left, will turn left. Except, of course, where signs say "no."

So about the only plan remaining is to provide special lanes for left turns. They may not help the driver make his turn against on-coming traffic but they will avoid the delay to following drivers.

AS I UNDERSTAND IT, when they repave traffic lines on that new surface they just put on Indian Avenue they are going to provide for left turns with special lanes. Left turn lanes will also be provided on Palm Canyon Drive.

That will be a help in the busy season. It will tend to keep the long lines of bumper-to-bumper travel in the left lane moving more smoothly.

EVER SINCE the self-starter was invented and women took to the steering wheel, there have been arguments whether men or women are the best drivers. It's still unsettled.

But a set of statistics I read the other day indicated that women are the better pedestrians.

According to these figures, three-fourths of pedestrians who are killed or suffer serious injury crossing streets at night are males.

THE STORY which went with the columns of figures explained that women were more patient than men.

The male of the species is more aggressive (that's what it said) and defies traffic to halt him. He doesn't want to hike all of the way to the corner to use a cross walk and where there are traffic lights, booms into the street the second the opposing light turns amber.

BESIDES THAT, women wear lighter clothes and are more easily spotted by auto headlights. Women are less inclined to take a chance. That I doubt after watching them at Del Mar last month.

Anyway, I recited these figures to a man the other day and he just snorted.

"Sure, three times as many men are bumped off crossing streets at night. Why not? There are five times as many men out and about then. Besides women shouldn't be out alone without a man at night."

So, maybe, that argument isn't settled, either.

San Francisco Got Brotherhood Bargain

By BOB CONSIDINE

SAN FRANCISCO — It was 16 years ago, and San Francisco basked in the glow of the nativity of the United Nations. There would be no more wars, nor hunger, fear or trepidation, nor the heads of delegations had signed the Charter, the loftiest international pledge man had ever undertaken.

This would be no latter-day League of Nations, scorned by the likes of Mussolini and debased by Japan's war government. This was earnest, this was real. The great powers had learned at long last that war was not a means of settling international disputes. But come to think of it, there would never really be any more serious disputes.

Molotov came to town, gave a lively press conference which ended — a bit too soon — when Earl Wilson asked him the proper pronunciation of vodka. I wrote a piece saying he looked like Theodore Roosevelt.

Reporter Was Thin

There was one part-time reporter on hand who, physically, would have seemed more at home covering a college fraternity meeting. He was painfully thin, but anybody would be thin who went through what he had experienced in the Pacific. The PT boat he commanded had been rammed by a Japanese destroyer and cut in half. He had been in the water a long time, saving himself and his men and swimming for aid. On top of that he had come down with malaria.

But now, mustered out, he was working on special assignment for the Hearst Newspapers and International News Service, writing what he called "The GI's Viewpoint" of what was transpiring here in this exquisite jewel of a town. The view 28-year-old reporter John Fitzgerald Kennedy took was dim. He wrote:

Passion and Selfishness

"The world organization that will come out of San Francisco will be the product of the same passions and selfishness that produced the treaty of Versailles."

Monday in New York, the same man, now President of the United States, went before the 99-nation UN to warn of the "passions and selfishness" which now imperil it as never before. He, obscure and unheard here in the rose-colored spring of 1945, spoke as the conscience of the free world. And I, for one, can think of no free man better fitted for the historic role.

To it last week trekked 50 African delegates of all shades from 22 dark continent countries. The group included six ambassadors. The theme was, "A Gesture of Brotherhood by the Men and Women of San Francisco as the African Continent Rises to Maturity." Mayor George Christopher found $50,000 in city funds to help pay for things, and a fine committee headed by a local stockbroker, L. Jack Block, raised the remaining $18,000.

Superb Investment

It turned out to be a superb investment. At first the black Africans shunned the delegates from the Union of South Africa, and vice versa. But after W. W. Van Deleur, counselor of the South African Embassy, spoke on his country's black-white problems, the first man to shake his hand was Dr. Kefauver, ambassador from Sierra Leone. "I've learned much I've never learned before," the black African said to the white African.

San Franciscans took them into their homes and clubs and to their campuses. It was, in all, the biggest bargain in brotherhood we've come across in a long, long time. And San Francisco, the city geographically farthest from Africa, thought it up all by itself.

Republican Control Seen in Next Congress

HOLMES ALEXANDER has left on a brief European vacation. During his absence a number of prominent and interesting guests will contribute columns.

By Congressman Bob Wilson (R., Calif.) Chairman, Republican Congressional Committee

WASHINGTON — Much has been written and said in recent weeks about the chances for a Republican victory in the 1962 Congressional races. The outcome, if one were to believe the pundits, will hinge on little more than reapportionment, or "gerrymandering," and perhaps retirements. I must confess that although I have discussed this subject as much as anyone, I hope I am not guilty of such oversimplification.

Certainly, these factors will contribute to the eventual election results, but the party which ignores the other ingredients of victory, may well go down to such calamitous defeat as to make recovery impossible in the ensuing few years.

Attractive Candidates

I have stated — and today I am more convinced than ever — that the Republican Party will recapture control of the House of Representatives and make substantial gains in every other electoral level — the Senate, governorships, State legislatures, county and municipal posts. Certainly gerrymandering and the other considerations mentioned will affect our chances, but we should win regardless of them because of two other factors — candidates issues.

During the 1960 Congressional campaign, the Republican Party selected attractive, straightforward and principled candidates. We gained 21 seats because of this and the issues, and we intend to build on this victory in 1962. Without exception, the newly-elected GOP members are building stature as statesmen and are proving to the voters of their Districts and the Nation that they are best qualified to do the job for which they have been elected. There can be little doubt that nearly all of them will be reelected.

On the other hand, a wide variety of Democratic office holders face reelection troubles.

Vacillation and Politicking

Democratic vacillation and politicking, usually at the expense of their constituents' interests; the willingness of Democratic Congressmen to knuckle under to every patronage threat thrown at them by the Administration; and recklessness with the taxpayer's dollar have created many prime targets for the voters' wrath.

Good candidates in 1962 will help to win Democratic seats for the Republican Party. The calibre of Congressional candidates put forth by the GOP both in the 1960 races and in the special election contests in recent months is proof that our party is leaning more and more toward the articulate vigorous type who clearly and undeviatingly stands on party principle. Gone from our ranks, I hope forever, is the candidate who equivocates and pussyfoots a "safe" course around major issues.

All of which brings us to what I think is the most important of all requirements for an election victory — the issues. Although these were on our side in 1960 and contributed to many of our victories in Congressional, Senatorial, gubernatorial and State legislative races, today they are more sharply defined and of greater importance than ever before.

The subjects closest to the voter's heart — our national security, fiscal responsibility and reckless spending at home and abroad — could, in themselves, decide the outcome of most of the 1962 Congressional contests.

Dissatisfaction Reflected

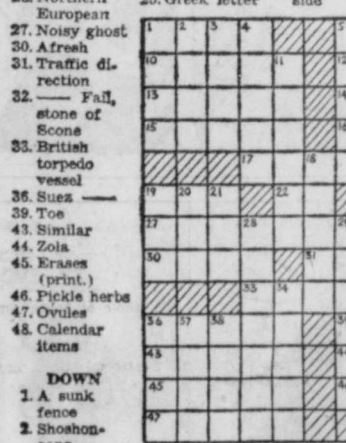

The volume and nature of mail pouring into Congressional offices during recent weeks definitely reflects voter dissatisfaction with the bungling and ineptness that has marked our legislative and executive actions since the New Frontier came into power. Paradoxically, a sizeable minority of the writers have expressed a personal fondness for President Kennedy, but almost all feel disillusioned with his failure to act effectively in the many national and international issues which have confronted him.

These same correspondents are not so kind, however, about Democratic Members of Congress who have attempted to rationalize and apologize for such things as our refusal to deal firmly with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Castro or Mao. Nor can they understand Congressional refusals to slash or eliminate big - spending domestic boondoggles at a time when almost every national resource is required by our defense effort.

Clearly, then, reapportionment, organization and the usual things will play a part in the 1962 Congressional elections. But I am convinced that the American people, when they go to the polls 15 months from now, will elect a Republican Congress, primarily because of the vital issues which can guarantee or destroy our continued survival in freedom.

Dear Sir,

We have had more inquiries about Palm Springs this year than we had for the last 25 years. It seems that people from other states seem to be interested to settle in the desert.

Outlook Is Bleak in Brazil

Austerity Promised

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
When Brazil's President Janio Quadros took the office from the resigned in a fit of temper last month, he did so on a pledge of internal austerity and an independent foreign policy.

The government replacing him after days of chaos which nearly erupted into civil war, is pledged to a similar program.

But it faces the same difficulties as those which plagued Quadros, and suffers the additional misfortune that it is completely satisfactory to no one.

When Quadros took office, he did so by virtue of the largest vote in Brazilian history. But the honeymoon was short. In less than a year in office, he vetoed Congress 19 times and quit after Congress overrode his 20th.

Mounting restiveness against tough austerity measures contributed to Quadros' troubles, but important other factors were his flirtations with Castro's Cuba and Red China and a growing suspicion that he would seek ways to free himself of congressional restrictions.

If by his sudden resignation, he sought to obtain this latter point in a hue and cry for his return, he miscalculated.

From this, then, erupted the crisis exposing the deep divisions within Brazil which merely were patched over in the hastily contrived solution.

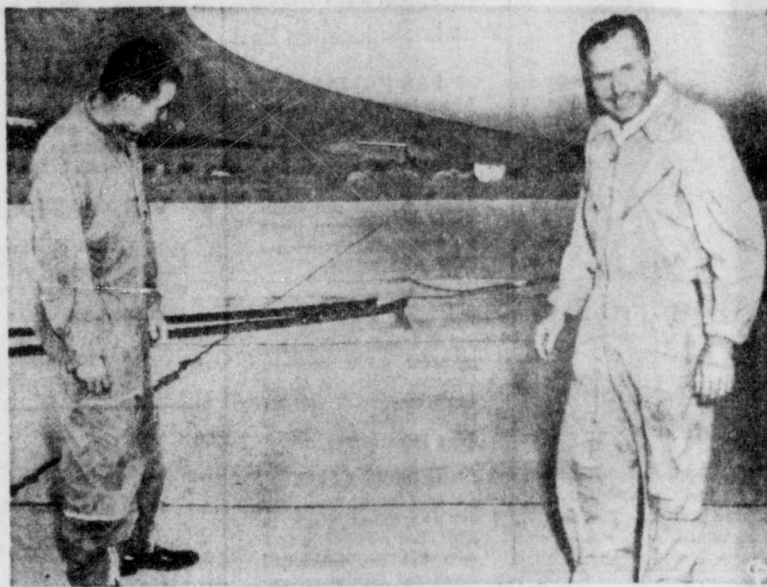

Brazil's constitution clearly provided for the succession of Vice President Joao Goulart, a man totally unsatisfactory to leaders of Brazil's armed forces who suspected his Communist sympathies.

But the armed services also had one of the best records in Latin America for staunch support of the Constitution.

From this came the unsatisfactory compromise wherein the constitution theoretically was preserved by a switch to a European-type parliamentary government which stripped the president of his power and rested it in the hands of a premier elected by Congress.

Goulart, possibly with fingers crossed, accepted the change but insisted the new premier be a man of his choice. His choice was small, balding, thin-tipped Tancredo Neves, a 51-year-old banker who also is regarded as one of Brazil's most able politicians.

Airlines Said Disappointing

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Clark Dodge & Co. says summer results for the airline industry have been "extremely disappointing."

At least a flattening out of the downturn in earnings power was anticipated, the brokerage house says, but unfortunately conditions have continued to deteriorate and apparently the bottom has not been established in the current phase of the industry's cycle.

With tax selling an additional near-term depressing influence, Clark Dodge says trading accounts could probably do better elsewhere in the list. However, it advises clients with longer term objectives to hold onto their airline shares and average down later in the year when tax selling picks up steam.

American nations, is a keystone in President Kennedy's "Alliance for Progress" campaign designed to raise the living standards through the whole of South America.

Should Brazil tumble into the arms of Castroism or Communism, or should it resume its reckless dash toward bankruptcy, then the whole program would have to be re-surveyed.

Korean Rulers Will Move Slowly on Reconstruction

By MERTON D. PERRY

TOKYO (UPI)—The so-called "illegal profiteers" of the Republic of Korea have been wondering whether the military rulers of the country will show them an iron fist or a velvet glove.

The signs now are that the military junta, which calls itself the Supreme Council of National Reconstruction, will decide on the velvet glove technique.

"They have to," said one member of the foreign business community in Seoul. "They can't kill the goose that lays the golden egg."

Battle Problem
The military rulers have been grappling with the problem since May, when they overthrew the government of Premier Chang.

The junta has announced a six-point revolutionary pledge which promised to wipe out corruption and deal harshly with what it called "illegal profiteers." This group included some of the ROK's leading industrialists and businessmen. They were accused of evading taxes and a massive huge illegal fortunes under former corrupt or incompetent administrations.

The government admitted these men had been forced by previous governments to pay a "murderously high" rate of taxes. But on Aug. 2 the government demanded that the accused business leaders pay a total of about $8 billion hwan (about $6.1 million) in back taxes and penalties.

The businessmen appealed for a new investigation and got it. On Aug. 12 the government published another set of figures, "A final assessment," which set the total amount to be paid at 48 billion hwan (about $3.9 million).

Business Sags
In the first two months after the revolution, business had been in a tailspin. Many factories, plants, mills and other businesses were completely closed down. Others were operating at only 20-30 per cent of capacity.

Government pump priming measures which went into effect Aug. 1 caused business indicators to level off and begin a slight upward trend.

The junta also began drafting a five-year plan which is to go into effect early in 1962. The plan called for a 7.1 per cent economic growth rate.

Many observers in Seoul felt the facilities and talent of the business leaders were needed if the plan was to succeed.

Supreme Council Chairman Park Chung Hee, has promised to return the government to civilian control in 1963. First, he says, he wants to see the country through the first year of the five-year plan. Observers, including diplomats, foreign businessmen and government officials, felt Park realized the important role the businessmen can play in his plans.

Dodgers Meet Pirates in Last-Gasp Pennant Bid

Midnight May See Reds Winning First Flag in Over Two Decades

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — By midnight tonight the National League pennant race may be over—and it won't be good news for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Dodgers meet the Pittsburgh Pirates in a two-night doubleheader tonight and the results of the two games could put the Cincinnati Reds over the top for

Angels Trying To End 7-Game Losing Streak

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Angels, closing out their first American League season the same way they opened it—with a losing streak—begin their next-to-last series of the year tonight against the Washington Senators.

Ted Bowsfield, the Canadian-born lefthander with a 10-7 record, will open against the Senators, with Bennie Daniels (10-11) of Compton, Calif., pitching for Washington.

The Angels go into tonight's game with a seven-game losing streak. After winning the opening game of the season against Baltimore last April, Los Angeles went into a tailspin and dropped 11 in a row. So maybe it's just that the team is a poor starter and finisher.

Los Angeles manager Bill Rigney said he will play most of his younger players during the final six games of the season against the Senators and Cleveland Indians here at Wrigley Field.

The present series most likely will mark the major league debut of Bob Sprout, 19-year-old pitcher who had a 5-11 record at Fort Worth in the Texas League before being recalled. He is the only recalled player who has seen action as yet.

Of the rookies brought up, Rigney says he is most pleased with the play of catcher Bob Rodgers, who has been hitting .364 since joining the club from Fort Worth.

His catching has been impressive and the switch-hitter has done extremely well with the bat, as seen by his solid batting average.

The Angels have 65 victories going into tonight's game and with only six left will have to have a late season in order to reach their goal of 70.

STEALING MARCH ON FRIENDS, Ted Williams, 43, retired Red Sox slugger and Lee Howard, 36, a model, were married in Massachusetts. Both were previously married and divorced.

VALIANT EFFORT is made by golfer who must go down in history in an unmarked duffer's grave. He's trying to finish the annual Yucca Valley Pioneer Pass Golf Challenge. The uphill effort got to him just before he reached the pinnacle he so eagerly sought. Some 30 contestants are hoping for better luck when the Challenge is made next month.

Sugar Ray Wins In Comeback Try

DETROIT (UPI)—Time casts its shadow in Sugar Ray Robinson's corner but, at 41, the five-time middleweight king insists enough remains of his once-mighty ring skills to warrant another title shot.

Robinson completed the first leg on his latest comeback Monday night when he came back after being floored by a left hook to the midsection in the eighth round to win a split decision over Canadian middleweight champion Willy Greaves.

Robinson, 160½ pounds, looked sharp only in the middle rounds but still had enough to edge the sometimes reluctant Greaves. The Edmonton brawler, weighing 161, shambled forward throwing wide lefts and rights during most of the fight as Robinson tried to straighten him up with wide uppercuts followed by combinations.

Sugar Ray began connecting in the third, fourth and fifth but tied from the sixth on. However, Greaves seemed hesitant on several occasions to mix it up. He did catch Robinson with a wild right in the sixth and Sugar buckled and hung on.

In the eighth Greaves sank home a whistling left hook to the belly just before the bell. Robinson sank in pain, his hands clutching the midsection, along the ropes near Greaves' corner. Referee Lew Handler, counting to one as the bell rang, said the blow was a legitimate one but Robinson claimed afterwards that it was "low."

"I don't think he (Greaves) meant it though," Robinson said. Sugar Ray was given the fight 47-44 by Judge Nick Timmisch and 46-44 by Judge Al Goodman. Handler gave the fight to Greaves 45-44.

"Normally, I should have a better chance at the stadium," he said, "that is, if they pitched to me. But the same thing will happen. They'll pitch to me outside."

Maris, however, said after being blanked in Boston this past weekend, "I'll never get another one if I have to keep going for bad pitches. They didn't give me much to hit in Boston and I don't think I'll get too much from any pitcher."

"The only way I'll get a homer is if a pitcher makes a mistake," he added.

Signs for Fight

BOSTON (UPI) — Gene Hamilton of New York has signed to meet Joe Denucci of Newton, Mass., in an eight-round middleweight fight at the Boston Arena, Oct. 3.

Opening Dates Similar

Season opening dates proposed by the DFG would be similar to those of 1961. The general trout season north of the Tehachapi would open April 28, excepting the north coastal area which would open May 26. The all-year trout season would be retained in southern California and on some other specific waters.

The DFG recommended that the general trout bag limit remain at 10, excepting some individual waters with more restricted limits and the all-year trout areas where the limit would be 10 in summer but five in winter.

The DFG recommended a five-trout limit for Legg Lake in Los Angeles County and for Morena Lake in San Diego County.

A PAR 149 HOLE!

Yucca Valley 28-Mile Golf Challenge Limited to 30

YUCCA VALLEY — Twenty-one entries have been received by the Pioneer Pass Golf Challenge entry committee for the third annual PPGC that will take place on Oct. 7 and 8 in the Hi-Desert.

According to Al Fisher, the president of the PPGC, the 28-mile golf contest has been limited to 30 players.

Each golfer will have his own judge and spotter accompany him on the 19th Hole. This fairway extends for 12,660 yards, over the old Pioneer Pass road to Big Bear.

Two Courses Played

The first nine holes will be played at the Yucca Valley Golf Course and the other regulation nine hole course is located at the Moonridge Golf Course at Big Bear City.

Total yardage of the course is 18,577 with the par set at 149. Par for the 19th hole is 79.

Radio communications will be maintained by a group of volunteer amateur radio operators from the Los Angeles area. The group, operating on Social 6 Net, will provide 10 mobile radio stations along the golfers route of play. They will be able to pass on weather information, road conditions and be in constant communication with the master scorekeeper.

Last year the PPGC players started in 100 degree, plus, heat in Yucca Valley and ended up two days later playing in snow at Big Bear.

Rules have been modified this year to include a time limit on looking for lost balls. In the event a player cannot find his ball in 10 minutes, he must take a penalty and play another ball.

Each player will be given five specially colored "sonic - yellow" balls to be used on the 19th hole. According to the rules committee, no handicaps will be allowed and play will commence at 7 a.m. at the Yucca Valley Country Club, Saturday, Oct. 7.

The PPGC will be officially underway on Friday evening Oct. 6, when all participants will attend a "Kick-Off" dinner at Callahan's in Yucca Valley. A "Victory Dinner" will be held in Big Bear on Sunday evening.

Argentina Aims At Heavy Title

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Heavyweight Alejandro Lavorante of Argentina took another step Monday night along a time table which his manager claims will end with knockout of world champion Floyd Patterson next September.

Lavorante pounded out an easy 10-round decision over trial horse Alonzo Johnson of Pittsburgh, Pa., to post his 17th victory in 18 professional fights. His record includes 12 wins by knockout or a TKO.

"Alejandro was not in best form," said his manager, Pinkie George. "But it was good experience for him to go the distance."

According to George's timetable Lavorante will go against veteran Matt Jackson in Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 11—and hopes to get a match with Archie Moore in Los Angeles early in December or January. He plans to meet at least one opponent a month prior to the proposed Moore fight.

Few Changes In '62 Angling Laws

SACRAMENTO — Department of Fish and Game recommendations for 1962 angling regulations, submitted to California's Fish and Game Commission, contained no major changes from the 1960 rules. The department's proposals and angling rules recommendations from the public will be considered by the Commission when it meets on Monday, Oct. 9, in Los Angeles. The meeting will convene at 9:30 a.m. in the assembly hall on the first floor of the Old State Building on First St. between Spring St. and Broadway.

Season opening dates proposed by the DFG would be similar to those of 1961. The general trout season north of the Tehachapi would open April 28, excepting the north coastal area which would open May 26. The all-year trout season would be retained in southern California and on some other specific waters.

Indians Coach Is Optimistic

Bunting Says Team Needs to Get Confidence

Even though his team suffered a solid defeat at the hands of El Centro Friday night, Palm Springs High School Coach Dick Bunting is still confident the Indians have a good shot at the Desert Valley league title.

Coach Bunting told the team's Boosters Club last night that "we're in a league where we can finish on top," adding with a chuckle that "that might sound a little funny after we've just had a 2-6 beating."

However, the coach went on to say that it was strictly up to the team. "They made a lot of mistakes in the El Centro game, but if they keep working like they have been in practice sessions we won't be in bad shape."

Team Needs Confidence
"The one big thing the team must get is confidence," Bunting pointed out, "and it takes a victory to get that."

Speaking briefly of the Friday opponent, Perris, the coach said his scouting report indicates that they have four or five linemen in the 200-pound class. "Our own line averages only about 160," he said in comparing the two. It was the big weight advantage in the El Centro game which cost the Indians dearly.

The Panthers, who finished last season with a 5-4 record, got off on the wrong foot last Friday against Carlsbad. They were swamped 20-0, but their big line has caused lines of worry to sprout across the faces of the Palm Springs coaches. Last year, Perris defeated the Indians, 19-6.

Only Indian out of the raid Friday night, according to Coach Bunting, is Carlos Reyes who injured his ankle. The coaches hope he will be in shape for the following game here against San Jacinto, Oct. 6.

Work on Fundamentals

In practice sessions this week, the Indians will work more on some of the fundamentals and add some offensive plays. The coach said he will probably switch Ken Morrison to the wingback slot after his good play Friday against El Centro.

Like most of the few local residents and rooters who made the trip to El Centro, Coach Bunting commented on the "not too good a representation of Palm Springs people there." He said the players notice it most when they make a fine play and hear no cheers.

California Duck Hunters Increase

California duck hunters increased by 21,315 last season for the biggest gain in hunter numbers of any state in the nation, according to figures just released by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Minnesota led all states in total duck stamp sales for the 1960-61 season with 139,065, followed by California with 135,809, Wisconsin with 109,875, and Texas with 106,144.

"Alejandro was not in best form," said his manager, Pinkie George. "But it was good experience for him to go the distance."

According to George's timetable Lavorante will go against veteran Matt Jackson in Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 11—and hopes to get a match with Archie Moore in Los Angeles early in December or January. He plans to meet at least one opponent a month prior to the proposed Moore fight.

BOOSTERS HEAR REPORT ON EL CENTRO BUS BAN

A report was made last night to the Palm Springs Indians' Boosters Club on the lack of local student participation at the El Centro football game last Friday night.

Boosters' publicity and public relations chairman, Roy W. Grow, reported that two buses were ready to go to the game when Dr. Austin Sellery, school principal cancelled the plan. It was turned down, Grow said, because Dr. Sellery felt there was not enough notice to prepare parents for the idea, and, as Grow told the group, "it was an unheard of thing to do in the territory he (Dr. Sellery) came from."

Grow told the group that Dr. Sellery, who is in his first year here, assumed full responsibility for the cancellation.

Seek Attendance Increase
The Boosters had written the board a letter requesting an explanation for the lack of student support at the game. The club also discussed methods of increasing local adult support of the games.

A lengthy discussion on by-laws for the club was held with club President Walter Colglazier presenting a proposed list of officer duties, dues, elections and other such details. The group approved as the goal of the Boosters "to

Stanford Tackle Lineman of Week

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Tackle Frank Atkinson of Stanford was named the Big Five's lineman of the week Monday for his part in the Indians' 9-7 upset of Tulane last Saturday.

Atkinson, who dropped football early last season to concentrate on studies, led the Stanford tacklers on numerous occasions as the Indians held Tulane to 145 yards in total offense.

Bobby Lee Smith of UCLA was named back of the week for scoring all of the Bruins' 19 points
